WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA—ELOQUENT EXTRACT FROM THE ADDRESS OF GEN. JOHN S. PRESTON, GEN. WADE HAMPTON.

At the recent Commencement of the University of Virginia, the annual address was delivered by the venerable Gen. John S. Preston, of South Carolina. We copy the following extract from the concluding portion of his most eloquent address, and a description of the reception and remarks of Gen. Wade Hampton, from the correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch:

"Gen. Preston pronounded a glowing eulogy on the women of Virginia, "from Mary the mother of Washington to the last watcher beside the couch of the wounded at Appomattox," and drew lessons of hope from their heroic toils. "They worked for us, they clothed us, they fed us, they prayed for us, and still now they work, and weep, and pray, and their great reward will be that their prayers go up to a God of Right, and by the savor of women's tears and women's prayers that God, in his own good time, will give us deliverance and liberty." He trusted that he had not erred, and that it would not be taken amiss, that he had thus endeavored to recall "some of those monuments which are above the reach of Gothic spear or battle-axe."

Drawing a beautiful parallel between Athens and Virginia, he eloquently exhorted the young men of Virginia to be true to their old mother, and concluded as follows:

"Commending yourselves to a God of Right, rise up with determined souls and claim that which the noble Volscian demanded when, clanking his chains along the Roman ranks, he cried, 'Give us that which men deserve who think themselves worthy to be free'—and then—no! my old eyes will not live to see it, but blessed be the God of my fathers, then—even now here standing on the sacred places of liberty, I do see, as in a holy vision, along the yet untravelled waste of a fast coming future—I see the sacred image of regenerated Virginia, and cry aloud in the hearing of all the nations of the earth.

"'ALL HAIL, OUR MOTHER!'"

It is impossible to describe the effect of this speech. Cheer after cheer interrupted the noble old Roman as with clear, ringing voice and easy, graceful gesture he gave utterance to words which thrilled every heart and brought tears to eyes unused to weep. The above is only a very meagre sketch of the speech which held the audience spell-bound for over two hours, but which so sparkled with gems in every sentence that even the belles and beaux ceased their clatter and gave undivided attention.

After the deafening cheers had somewhat subsided, there were loud and continued calls for Hampton. He arose, and, as he stood to await the ceasing of the deafening cheers with which he was greeted, he could not but recall the days when, mounted, he could be seen leading brave legions to victory.

He thanked the young men from his heart for the call they had made and the kindness with which they had greeted him. Their cheers reminded him of those he used to hear on the battle-field, telling where Virginia chivalry led the way to victory. He came from the noble and gallant State of South Carolina, which yielded to none in her devotion to the cause of right, though she now sits and weeps in sackcloth and ashes. But he had listened with pleasure equal to that of any present to the glowing eulogy upon Virginia, for during four glorious years he, too, was a citizen of Virginia, and claimed a part in her proud heritage. He doubted not that he was called out because it was his proud privilege to have belonged to the "Army of Northern Virginia"—the noblest army that ever marched on God's earth—and to have led Virginians as well as brave sons from other States. As commander of the Cavalry Corps of the Army of Northern Virginia, he had tried to do full justice to all, from whatever State they came, and to reward true merit wherever found, whether covered by the braided coat of the officer, or the tattered jacket of the private soldier. He saw before him some of the men he used to lead, and hailed this as the greeting of the Cavalry Corps, Army Northern Virginia, to their old commander. In the name of that glorious old corps—in the name of its fallen as well as its living heroes—he returned most hearty thanks for this cordial greeting.

Gen. Hampton was frequently interrupted by deafening cheers, which were long continued after he took his seat. But when the band struck up "Dixie," the audience knew no bounds to their enthusiasm, and made the roof ring with cheer after cheer."

THE ELECTORAL VOTES OF THE SOUTH.

In the Senate the joint resolution excluding "from the Electoral College the votes of States lately in rebellion which shall not have been organized" at the time of the Presidential election was called up and debated until the expiration of the morning hour. The resolution in question is, one clause, most singularly worded, and if passed may, under a possible contingency, be the cause of much trouble. After declaring that the votes of the Southern States shall not be counted in the Electoral College unless they shall have organized governments since the 4th of March, 1867, it continues with the further qualification, "and unless such election of electors shall have been held under the authority of such Constitution and government." Suppose, as is probable, that the reconstructed Southern States all give large majorities for the Conservative candidate, and, finding this to be the case, the present radical State authorities of the South declare that the election was not "held under the authority," &c. What then? Would the vote be excluded under these circumstances? Mr. Trumbull very mildly described this clause as "improper and absurd." He might have gone further and referred to it as one of the means whereby that other "rebellion might result" to which he alluded, and particularly if the votes thus excluded sufficed to elect a Presidential candidate.

WORKMEN DISCHARGED.—We are sorry to learn that three hundred and ninety mechanics and laborers were discharged from the Gosport (Va.) navy-yard on Tuesday.—We have heard the reason assigned that the appropriation is exhausted. This is a misfortune to happen to these worthy men at this dull season of the year.—Norfolk Day Book.

SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION!

On the 17th day of August 1868, in pursuance of a decree in Equity, made at June Term, 1867, and amended at June Term, 1868, of the Supreme Court of N. C., in the case wherein the Heron Mining Company is complainant and Joseph Weisman is respondent, I shall proceed to sell at the door of the Court House of the County of Wake, in the city of Raleigh, to the highest bidder, the following described property, being all the land and mining interests, mentioned and described in the pleadings, to wit: About

SIXTEEN TRACTS OF LAND,

containing in all some

4,000 ACRES OR MORE.

Also the mining privilege upon two other tracts of some

1,000 ACRES OR MORE.

This land is situate in the County of Wake, and near the city of Raleigh. There is a continuous and many parallel veins of Graphite, Plumbago or Black Lead, much of it of the highest quality, extending throughout the entire chain of tracts, some twelve miles in length.

Terms, 3 per cent. cash, and the residue of the purchase money upon a credit of one, two and three years.

W. S. MASON,
Jun 30-4d Commissioner.

TUESDAY, JULY 7, 1868

THE INAUGURAL.

Most of our Daily readers will, ere this, have read the Inaugural Address of Gov. Holden, delivered in the Capitol Square, on the 4th inst., before a portion of the General Assembly and an immense concourse of the newly enfranchised blacks. It is a well written document, rather long for the occasion, and without the directness and vigor of the author's best editorials.

It contains nothing new, nothing which the regular readers of the Standard have not seen produced before, in every conceivable form. In temper, it corresponds with that evinced in all his public papers while Provisional Governor, and the public know sufficiently well how he has carried out his pledges and how he has illustrated his professions of friendship and good feeling for the people of the State.

In this document, as in all others he has written, Gov. Holden has shown that he is simply a politician, a strong partisan politician, without the ingenuousness, the genius or the forecaste of the statesman,—that he has no keen perception of the real tendencies of the popular will, of the adaptation of the best measures to an end, or the effects of measures before they have been tried,—that he is no inventor of great measures and has no aptness in emergencies, all of which are so necessary to a statesman. He must keep near shore and follow the beaten track, or he becomes bewildered.

To those acquainted with the history of his political life, his defence of Radicalism and the new Constitution, in this address, so utterly adverse to all his former teachings, will not surprise them. He talks of rebels and of rebellion, as if he never was a rebel—of Unionism, as if he had been canonized for his Union principles. What has been decided by a party, as to principles or measures, he attributes to the people, although he knows that every one of these principles or measures are still hotly contested and may be changed or overthrown. The enforcement of the fanatical doctrine of human equality upon the people of North Carolina, by the unconstitutional votes of a semi-barbarian race, he calls the voice of the people, and boldly announces the old partizan cry "to the victors belong the spoils."

No one is astonished at the enunciation from him, "Every office and every employment in the State, from the most inferior to the most exalted, must be filled by the State Constitution." To this Conservatives will not object, if the Radicals will fill every office and every employment, with men who are capable, honest and virtuous. As they have made such a poor beginning in these respects, they may expect the people to displace them, as soon as possible, for their incompetency and wastefulness. Conservatives will, however, receive with special favor the declaration that, among Radicals, "there will be no social proscription." Whether this means that the Radicals will not proscribe Conservatives, socially, or that white Radicals will not proscribe negro Radicals, socially, is not very transparent.

"Gov." Holden is not in favor, it seems, of putting white and black children in the same schools, nor white and black militia in the same companies, nor does he think the Constitution requires it. We, of course, will not object to this, and we hope the constitutionality of acts requiring this separation will not be tested before the Courts. We hope he is also prepared, now, in view of the rapid tendency to miscegenation, to urge the General Assembly to interdict most strenuously the cohabitation and intermarriage of the white and black races.

Nor do we object to a proper organization of the militia. Yet we fear the most serious consequences from the arming and equipping of portions of the "loyal," black and white, militia. "It is the duty of the Executive to see that the laws are faithfully executed and to preserve peace among the people," is certainly correct, and that "the people of North Carolina are proverbial for their law abiding disposition," has been demonstrated most clearly since the close of the war. Under the operation of conflicting laws against the old customs of the people, and of a partial administration of an unwritten military code, both on the part of the Freedman's Bureau, and of the military proper, in the midst of an admitted provisional civil code, the peace of the community has been singularly preserved; and but preserved, where neither the presence of the Bureau nor Military were found, although, at no time, have there been more than 2,000 Federal troops in the State. We trust that the General Assembly will look closely into these facts and act up to their teachings. They teach us, palpably, that the presence of Military in the State, in any form, is wholly unnecessary for the preservation of peace and order. If the Executive and the party in power really want peace, the facts of the past ought to convince them that all that is needed, is the wise and prompt administration of the civil law by competent officers. An armed militia must be a source of irritation and trouble. It is adverse to all our ideas of peace, order and liberty. Moreover, impoverished as our people are, will the General Assembly incur the enormous tax which will be required to keep it up?

The Inaugural speaks patriotically enough in insisting upon the preservation of the credit of the State. Every citizen must feel the importance of this. But how can this best be done, in the impoverished condition of our people? For three successive years, since the war, the productions of the State, our only source of wealth, have fallen more than one-half below our former ability.—The poverty of the people, their actual ability to pay in cash any lawful claim upon them, is fifty per cent. less than it was the first year after the war. Such property as our people have will not bring, at public sale, one-tenth what it would before the war. The wheat crop, upon which so many relied the present year, has been a failure,—not being half a crop,—and although the cotton and corn crops at present look well, the continuance of the present drought, for any length of time, would prove destructive to them. To meet the large increase of the regular State expenses under the new regime, and the most moderate provision for the schools, will more than exhaust the people's means, at present. If, in addition to this, provision is made to pay the interest on the State debt by taxation, who can estimate the amount of suffering and sacrifice to be entailed on our distressed people? Let the General Assembly carefully ponder its steps upon the subject of taxation.

The address speaks pleasantly about forgetting the past, and about meeting those who come among us, kindly and courteously. We appreciate and sympathise with the verbiage of the address in this particular, but the practice of the author shows he means more than he says. We discard wholly the idea of acting unkindly and uncourteously towards those who come to settle with us, and to share with our sorrows and our joys alike, in our efforts at recuperation. The nativity of a man we do not consider, but his character, his objects in coming among us, are to be considered. If men come among us, as is evidently the case with many, simply to seek and to fill office, because the manipulations of party render office more accessible to them than to our own people, and show that their object is not to promote the interests of our people and of the State, but their own, we are utterly opposed to them. In many cases, there are men of such doubtful morals, whose characters at home rendered them unacceptable to their own people, and whose example and associations, since they have been among us, have been so demoralizing and disreputable, that we cannot commit the safety and interests of the State to them. But where they are known to possess character and qualifications, and are identified with North Carolina interests, we have no prejudices against them, because of their birth. This part of the address will be regarded, as it was intended, as an apology for the Yankee allies of the Governor,—the carpet-baggers with whom he has linked his destiny.

THE DIFFERENCE.

The contrast between our native colored people, and the carpet-baggers who have forced themselves into position by negro votes, is remarkable. In every instance, where an opportunity is afforded the carpet-baggers to manifest an illiberal and despotic spirit towards our native gentlemen, who, in all the elements of intelligence, worth and reliability, are vastly their superiors, indulging in the most ungenerous and unmanly charges and rebukes, &c. On the other hand, we have observed that the colored representatives are far more liberal and exhibit a spirit far more becoming.

This contrast was strikingly exhibited in the Senate, on yesterday, in the cases of Mr. Sweet, of Craven, and A. H. Galloway, of New Hanover. Mr. Sweet was intolerant, contending that the Reconstruction Acts, though unconstitutional, were the supreme law of the land, and must be obeyed. Mr. Robbins' reply must have shivered him, if truth could make an impression. Galloway, on the other hand, insisted that he was in favor of the admission of every Senator who had such credentials as he had, and was ready to ask the removal of all their disabilities. He did this, he said, although the party of Mr. Robbins was disposed to put his race under the ban,—but it was simple justice and right. Such magnanimity only shines the brighter, though exhibited by a native colored man, when put in contrast with the illiberal, ungenerous, partizan course of a Yankee new comer in the State, who could not have been elected but by the agency of negro votes.

GOV. WORTH.—Gov. Worth retired gracefully from the Executive office on Wednesday; yielding to a force which could not be resisted, he yet entered his protest against the usurpation which displaced him. This is what we expected of him; he has acted as became the Governor of an honored old commonwealth which has been compelled, temporarily at least, to yield up its existence at the hands of the destroyer. We are glad that he protested against the right of the military to remove him, for we believe that he is still the lawful Governor of the State and his protest may possibly serve a useful purpose in the future.

Gov. Worth came into office at a most critical period in the history of the State—at a time when the office was beset with more difficulties than any of his predecessors even encountered. That he should have given universal satisfaction was scarcely to have been expected. Yet few chief magistrates have been more successful, and few have carried with them into retirement the confidence and respect of the virtuous and intelligent proportion of the people in a higher degree. He will doubtless feel relieved of an onerous burden, and enjoy more happiness as a private citizen than when burdened with the responsibilities of the Executive office. Such, at least, is our wish, and the wish of thousands of friends in every part of the State.—Old North State.

U. S. SENATOR.—We learn that Governor Swann has determined to appoint William Pinkney Whyte, Esq., (a member of the Baltimore bar,) United States Senator, to fill the unexpired term of Hon. Reverdy Johnson, Minister to England. The third Congressional District of Maryland will now be competed for strongly between Governor Swann, Messrs. R. J. Brent, John Stewart and C. J. M. Gwinn, as to who shall be the successor of Gen. Phelps.—Worcester Shield.

THE COTTON TAX.—The exact phraseology of the law repealing the cotton tax having become a matter of dispute, a certified copy of the act has been procured from Washington by the Journal of Commerce.—The law reads, all cotton grown in the United States after the year 1867 shall be exempt from internal tax, and cotton imported from foreign countries, on and after November 1st, 1868, shall be exempt from duty.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF NORTH CAROLINA.

BY AUTHORITY OF CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

SENATE.

MONDAY, July 6, 1868.

The Senate was called to order at 10½ o'clock.

Prayer by Rev. Mr. Branson, of the City.

A. H. Galloway, (negro,) presented a resolution relative to the removal of disabilities of certain persons in this State. Lies over.

Mr. Burns offered a resolution, proposing the appointment of a joint committee to examine into and report the condition of the Auditor's Office. Lies over.

Mr. Robbins moved the following, as a substitute for his motion, which was pending when the Senate adjourned on Saturday, to wit:

"That the Committee of Investigation be required to ask the opinions of the Judges of the Supreme Court of North Carolina upon the following questions, to-wit:

1st. Has the amendment to the Federal Constitution, known as Art. 14, any force or effect, yet, as a part of the organic Law?

2nd. Has that clause of the 3rd section of the recent Act of Congress, re-admitting this State to representation in Congress, which declares that certain classes of citizens shall be deemed ineligible to office, any binding or legal force and effect in this State, as a co-equal State in the Union?

3rd. Have the Reconstruction Acts of Congress, or any of them, any legal force and effect now in this State, upon the question of the eligibility to office, under the present State government, of such classes of citizens as would be under disability by the Howard Amendment?

4th. Is the present government of this State still provisional only in its character?

And that said Committee be instructed to include said opinion or opinions in their report."

Mr. Robbins supported the resolutions in a speech of great force, followed by Messrs. Blythe, Sweet, Rich, Lassiter, Welker and Galloway (negro,) in opposition.

The question recurring on the substitute, it was lost.

On motion of Mr. Robbins, the ayes and nays were called on the original motion; which was rejected, as follows:

YEAS.—Messrs. Barnes, Beeman, Love, Melchor, Mason, Purdie, Robbins, Wynne, Winstead, and Wilson.

NAYS.—Messrs. Barrow, Bellamy, Brogden, Burns, Blythe, Cook, Davis, Eaves, Etheridge, Eppes, (negro,) Forkner, Galloway, (negro,) Hayes, Harrington, Hall, Hyman, (negro,) Legg, Lassiter, Long, Martindale, Moore, of Carteret, Moore, of Yancey, Rich, Respass, Richardson, Smith, Shoffner, Sweet, White and Welker.

A message was received from the House, transmitting sundry papers, to wit:

A bill providing for the qualification of officers elected under the Reconstruction acts. Read first time.

Also the report of the Joint Committee on rules for the government of intercourse between the two Houses; which was adopted.

On motion of A. H. Galloway, (negro,) his resolution, relative to election frauds in Caswell county, was taken up and adopted.

The bill repealing that part of an act, which requires the Public Treasurer to give a duplicate bond, came up, and, on motion of Mr. Brogden, the rules were suspended and the bill passed its several readings.

Mr. Brogden introduced a resolution, authorizing the publication of twenty copies of the Inaugural Address of Governor Holden and the remarks of Judge Bond delivered on the 4th of July.

Mr. Etheridge moved to amend, by including the remarks of Lt. Gov. Caldwell, and to increase the number of copies to fifty; which amendment was accepted and the resolution adopted.

The resolution of Mr. Robbins, declaring that the fundamental condition in the Omnibus Bill, which seeks to restrict the right of the State hereafter to regulate suffrage, to be without legal force or effect in this State, came up.

Mr. Robbins supported the resolution in one of the most powerful, eloquent and impressive speeches we have listened to. The Senate and large audience listened with the most profound attention and with unabated interest. The Reporter cannot attempt a report and hopes that Mr. R. will furnish it for publication.

At the close of Mr. R's remarks, Mr. Barrow called for the previous question, which was agreed to, and,

On motion of Mr. Robbins, the ayes and nays were called. The vote stood as follows:

NAYS.—Messrs. Barrow, Beasley, Bellamy, Brogden, Burns, Blythe, Cook, Davis, Eaves, Etheridge, Eppes, (negro,) Forkner, Galloway, (negro,) Hayes, Harrington, Hall, Hyman, (negro,) Legg, Lassiter, Martindale, Moore, of Carteret, Moore, of Yancey, Rich, Respass, Richardson, Smith, Shoffner, Sweet, White, Wynne, Winstead, Welker—32.

AYES.—Messrs. Barnes, Beeman, Love, Melchor, Mason, Purdie, Robbins, Wilson—8.

On motion of A. H. Galloway, (negro,) the Senate took a recess until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

"HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES."

MONDAY, July 6, 1868.

The House was called to order at 10 o'clock.

Prayer by the Rev. Mr. Branson, of the city.

Mr. Morrill, of Brunswick, appeared, was qualified and took his seat.

Mr. Estes presented a memorial from Cooper Hutchins, of Duplin, in reference to the payment of taxes. Referred to the Committee on Claims, when such Committee is appointed.

RESOLUTIONS, &C.

By Mr. Gunter: A resolution requesting the Governor to furnish each member a copy of the Constitution and Ordinances of the late Convention. Adopted.

By Mr. Hodgins: A resolution, that the Commission, who were appointed by the late Convention to codify the laws, be invited to address the House, in Committee of the Whole upon the subject.

By Mr. Blair: A resolution postponing the collection of taxes in Randolph, due for the year 1868, until the first day of November.

Mr. Hodnett moved to insert "Caswell" in its provisions.

After some further discussion, Mr. Blair withdrew the resolution, as the matter would be covered by a general bill.

By Mr. Abbott: A joint resolution authorizing the Governor to appoint a Commission of three to examine into the Literary fund, including the University,—said Committee to have power to send for persons and papers.

Mr. Durham did not see the necessity of such a measure. We had a Superintendent of Instruction, whose business it was to transact such matters. The Commission would have to be paid, at the expense of the State. Why not authorize the Speaker of this House to appoint a committee to report on such business? That would be no additional expense to the State, if a special committee was really necessary. He, therefore, was opposed to the resolution.

After some debate between Messrs. Abbott and Durham, Mr. A. consented to modify his resolution, by authorizing the Speaker of the House to appoint a committee of three to make an examination. The resolution was then adopted.

By Mr. Sinclair: A bill entitled "an act to change the method of electing the Judges of the several Superior Courts."

[This bill provides for the election of the Superior Court Judges, by the electors of each Judicial district, instead of a general election.]

Mr. Justice, of Rutherford, moved to lay it on the table.

Mr. Sinclair called for the yeas and nays.

The call was sustained and resulted in the House refusing to sustain the motion to table, by a vote of yeas 46, nays 50.

On motion of Mr. Abbott, the bill was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary, when appointed.

On motion of Mr. Abbott, his bill, to provide a new term of the Superior Court in Caldwell county, was taken up and put on its second reading and passed.

The bill was then read for the third time, adopted, and ordered to be engrossed and transmitted to the Senate.

By Mr. White: A bill in regard to the collection of arrears of taxes from the securities of deceased Sheriffs, allowing until Jan. 1st., 1869, for such collection.

The bill was put on its second reading and adopted; when

On motion of Mr. Seymour, its third reading was postponed until to-morrow.

By Mr. Kinney: A bill to amend the charter of the Davidson Copper Mining Co. The bill passed its second and third readings, and was ordered to be engrossed and transmitted to the Senate.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

Mr. Sinclair's resolutions came up, in regard to raising a Committee to investigate the charges against Mr. Jones, recently elected Judge.

The Chair decided that the name of the gentleman, whom the resolution charges with misconduct, should appear.

Mr. Sinclair was then allowed to insert the name, when

Mr. Seymour said that, as a member of the legal profession, whose character is measurably dependent upon the character of its members,—and as one of the party who elected the Judge referred to, and which does not desire to sustain any of its members in any dereliction of duty,—and as a citizen of the State of North Carolina, and, as such, interested in the purity and respectability of its Judiciary, he had no desire to interpose any obstacle to the investigation desired; but there are reasons, known to many members of this House, which it is not necessary for me now to give, which render it expedient to postpone a vote on this matter. I, therefore, move that the consideration of it be postponed until Thursday morning next.

Mr. Sinclair agreed to the postponement, and the chair announced it the special order for that day.

Mr. Abbott, from the committee appointed to draft rules of order, reported that they had not been able to submit a set, but would do so this afternoon. He moved that when the House adjourn, that it adjourn until 4 o'clock this afternoon. Carried.

On motion of Mr. Moring, the House then adjourned.

[NOTE.—In last Friday's proceedings, Mr. Stevens, of Craven, was reported as a negro. It was a mistake of the Reporter's. Mr. S. is a white man.]

DIED:

At Trinity College, on the 21st ult., Dr. C. F. GRAVES, in the 45th year of his age. He was in his usual health three days before; some time after dinner, he went out to his potato patch, took a hoe in above him he attended the work, and took a few steps distant to sit down, and fell, saying at the time to his son who was near, that he was struck with the palsy, and that they should hasten to carry him to the house. He never spoke afterwards. He seemed to be perfectly conscious of everything about him, showed perfect intelligence in his eyes, and could, to some extent, communicate with his friends by signs.—A little after night, on the 21st, he died gently and calmly, as one who enters peaceful sleep.

Dr. Graves was a regularly educated Physician, and was eminent in his profession; he was not only thoroughly learned and great in practical skill, but was so kind and considerate, so affectionate and attentive, that his very presence acted as a charm upon his patients. Rarely has a Physician been so much beloved and so much missed as Dr. Graves. As a man, he was in every sense a refined, christian gentleman; noble in appearance, elegant in manner and genial in soul, he was the delight of the community. As a husband and father, he was devotedly attached to his family, and perhaps the country affords no finer sample of peaceful, loving, refined social life than his cherished home. He leaves a wife and four children to mourn his loss; their affliction is great, and though surrounded by many warm friends, earth can give no consolation for such a bereavement as theirs. As a Christian, Dr. Graves had been for many years a consistent member of the Presbyterian Church, and latterly especially, had been living a devoted, prayerful life. Doubtless his peace was fully made with God. His funeral was preached at High Point to an immense congregation. The body was buried with Masonic honors, and was followed to the grave by the largest concourse of people that has ever been seen on such an occasion in this country. Trinity has lost a physician in whom she had perfect confidence, and a man that would have been an ornament to any community. He is gone, but his memory will long live in this village. C.

CLINTON MALE ACADEMY.

THE TRUSTEES OF THIS INSTITUTION desiring to establish permanently a School of the highest character have engaged the services of Professor B. F. GRADY and Mr. McLEOD, Esq., and now offer to the public a Seminary worthy of their patronage. Where the Principals are known, no words of commendation need be said in their favor. Long experience in teaching, united with those qualities indispensably requisite to the proper training of the youthful mind, render them eminently fitted for the duties of friend and instructor.

The situation is remarkably healthy; the community is universally regarded as uncommonly moral, intelligent and pleasant, and offers, therefore, many and superior inducements to parents and others, who are compelled to entrust the education of their sons or wards to others.

Any information that may be desired in regard to terms, &c., will be furnished with pleasure by either of the Teachers, or by the Trustees.

YESTERDAY.

The sessions of both branches of the Legislature were short, on yesterday morning.

In the House, nothing of interest transpired.

In the Senate, a proposition by Mr. Robbins, to modify his motion of Saturday, referring certain important legal enquiries, which were published in the report of proceedings, to the Judges of the Supreme Court, was rejected, and then the original motion was itself defeated. We are at a loss to perceive the motive of the refusal, on the part of Radical Senators. Surely, they are not lacking in confidence in the Judges whom they elected. There is one thing peculiarly characteristic of Radicalism, whether on the floor of Congress or that of its own creature, the present Legislature, viz: An utter horror of judicial investigations.

Mr. Robbins also addressed the Senate, at some length, on his resolution declaring that the "fundamental condition" of admission, required in the so called Omnibus Bill, restricting the right of the State to regulate suffrage within its own limits, was null and void. We had not the pleasure of hearing Mr. Robbins, but his speech is spoken of as one of commanding power and eloquence, and as having been listened to with profound attention. The resolution was defeated, as we expected it would be. But again the true people of North Carolina have occasion to thank Mr. Robbins for putting these Radical serfs of Congress on record. The day will come when they will be more eager than Mr. Robbins to undo their own work.

In the afternoon, the proceedings in the Senate were entirely unimportant. The extraordinary proceedings in the House on the Caswell election case will be noticed, when they appear.

A POINT.—The whole of the Radical legislation on the subject of Reconstruction has been actuated by a spirit of such blind and besotted malignity, that the confusion, contradictions and complexities resulting from it are interminable. Here is a point for those who are so anxious to make it appear that certain members elect to the Legislature are barred by the Howard Amendment: Those from whom disabilities have recently been removed by Congress, are only relieved from their disability under the Reconstruction Acts. The Howard Amendment is not yet a part of the Federal Constitution, and Congress cannot remove disabilities under a prospective law. It follows, therefore, the Reconstruction Acts being no longer operative, that when the Howard Amendment is adopted, (and Mr. Lieut. Gov. Caldwell contends that it is now of effect in North Carolina, since its adoption by the Legislature,) the relief bill of Congress will be of no avail. If this is so, and we think it clear reasoning from the Radical stand-point, the "banners" are themselves "banned."

IN SEVERAL SIGNIFICANT particulars, the Inaugural of the "Governor" affords a striking illustration of how "circumstances alter cases."

A few short years ago, the author entreated the people of North Carolina, with all the power of language at his command, to "fight it" until the last Yankee was driven from our soil, and declared that we were engaged in "a just and holy cause." Now he congratulates his hearers, with a sanctimonious fervor, that the "great rebellion is suppressed."

Now he poetizes about

"The Northern Star
Of whose true, fixed and resting quality, &c,"— while, a few years ago, when he wrote that celebrated ode on Calhoun, it was:

"Star of the South! Thy beams are here,—
Here in this heart, that mourns thy loss!"

MARSHALS EXTRAORDINARY.—The Committee of the "House of Representatives," appointed to make arrangements for the negro Inauguration, on Saturday, reported, as part of the programme, that the members should proceed to the platform in Capitol Square, under the direction of the two negro Doorkeepers as Marshals! If any one can "do justice to this subject," they will please inform us. We confess our utter inability to come up to the requirements of the "situation."

WE UNDERSTAND that the "big bugs" were not the only speakers on the "glorious Fourth." Cuffee Mayo, ex-member of the "Konstitootional Konvenshun," and member of the "House of Representatives" from Granville, addressed a congregation of blacks in the afternoon, we learn. The inspiring associations of the day naturally suggested to Cuffee pistols, pop-crackers and patriotism.

THE ROMANS had their white days. In North Carolina, last Saturday will be known, for all time to come, as the black day.

"White men must stand back." That was an inscription upon a banner borne by Forney's negro mob on the night of the Washington election.

Correspondence of the Sentinel.

HOT SPRINGS, BATH COUNTY, VA., July 3rd, 1868.

Editors of the Sentinel:—Last year, you had such a description of the Valley, in which these Springs are situated, with the Warm Spring Mountains on the Southeast, and a parallel range on the Northwest, (the name of which I do not know;) also such a description of the Hotel with its porch two hundred and twelve feet in length and the rows of cabins on each side, and the bath houses in front, at the further side of the lawn, a descent to which is made by four terraces, and by thirty five steps in all;—and also of the numerous gravelled walks along and around the terraces, under deep shade trees, with seats placed at convenient distances for the resting places of the aged and infirm, and a meeting place for lovers; and, also, of the rich butter and milk, ham, fat mutton, beef-steak and venison, to say nothing of all other good things to tempt or to gratify the appetite; the well-formed and attentive servants, the prompt attention of Messrs. Turner and Fisher, the ushers, and the wonderful administrative talents of Col. McClung, the Manager, who seems almost empowered with ubiquity; with all this fresh in the memories of your readers, no further account of them is deemed necessary.

Let me speak, then, of some changes and improvements that have been effected since last Summer. An addition has been made to the Hotel of six good sized rooms and passages. These rooms, on the second and third floors, are so arranged as to suit a family wishing to occupy two; that is, they have a partition-door between each of the suite of rooms, in one of which parents can lodge, and in the other the children, with a closet or dressing room attached to each. Or a husband and wife, if there are no children, can occupy one, as a chamber, and the other as a private parlor, in which to entertain their own special friends. Such rooms were asked for last Summer, but, excepting a few cabins, not so well arranged as these, could not be had. The whole establishment has been thoroughly renovated, and is as clean as a new pin. A good deal of additional furniture has been provided, and the double-rooms, and those to be occupied by ladies, furnished with bureaus, greatly to the comfort and convenience of those who have large wardrobes. But the alteration in the Bathing houses constitutes the most important improvement. A very handsome porch has been built in front of the house containing the eight hot baths, or boilers, as they are called. All the baths have had new walls and new floors put on them; some of them, that is all eight of the boilers have been made deeper, and over one bath each, in the ladies' and gentlemen's apartments, there is a large wooden open frame, a dumb-waiter in fact, in which an invalid can be laid or set, and this frame, or dumb waiter, is worked by machinery with perfect ease, in letting down the patient in it, and, after bathing, in drawing him up.—The whole internal arrangement of the sweating rooms, and dressing rooms, has been so changed as to secure far more comfort than before, and the most entire privacy. No gentlemen need be seen by another whilst bathing or passing out of the bath to his dressing room, and the same privacy exists in the ladies' apartment,—each one may be entirely concealed from her friend,—if she chooses. But it is a singular fact that, last summer, whilst I never knew gentlemen to bathe together, the ladies almost invariably went in companies. Why?—"this deponent saith not."

An interesting discovery was made during the Spring in this wonderful valley.—While workmen were engaged in adjusting the pipe that conveys water from a very cold spring at the foot of the mountain—(which water is pure freestone, and is used for drinking and culinary and washing purposes,)—within a few inches of this spring and separated only by a thin slab of rock, a stream of hot water was found gushing up. These springs of water are so near to each other that a person can thrust his thumb in the hot water, and his fore-finger in the other of cold. Indeed the whole range of springs within a distance of a hundred yards pours fourth water of different kinds. We have cold, very cold, drinking water, and then water that is hot, hotter, and hottest, to bathe in. The thermal waters vary in temperature from 76 deg., to 110 deg Fahrenheit, and are more or less impregnated with sulphur and other mineral ingredients; some of them so strong, as to distinguish the baths into which they pour as "the sulphur baths." The drinking water of pure freestone indicates a temperature of 51 deg., so cold that many people, on first drinking it, believe it to have been iced. The same may be said of the lime-stone water. In the rear of the Hotel and 150 yards from it is the Erwin Spring, so called from the name of the discoverer, and on analysis is found to contain the very proportions of the celebrated Healing Springs, three miles to the Southwest.

This region of country, commonly known as "the Mountains of Virginia," has been, for nearly one hundred years, remarkable, as containing a great number and a great variety of mineral Springs. It is said—how true the statement is I do not know,—that if an Ellipse be described with a line drawn through it of forty miles, from Northeast to Southwest, and another line at right angles to the former, of twenty miles from Southeast to Northwest, it would embrace a larger number and variety of mineral waters of highly remedial and restorative properties, than any tract of country of equal extent on the face of the earth. A few of those mostly frequented, are the "Rockbridge Alum," the "Bath Alum," the "Warm Springs," the first of all known to the white man, the "Hot springs," the "Healing or All healing Springs," the "White Sulphur," the "Grey Sulphur," the "Blue Sulphur," the "Red Sulphur" and the "Salt Sulphur," sulphur enough, in all conscience; the "Old Sweet," the "New Sweet," the "Red Chalybeate," and the "Alleghany Springs," to mention no more. Some are good for one thing and some for another. The "Warm" and the "Hot" are certainly good for bathing. No one who has not tried it can form the slightest idea of the luxury—the delicio-usness of a bath.—When Mohammed was describing his Paradise for the faithful, he knew nothing about a Sulphur bath at the "Hot," or he certainly would have put it in. So far as I know, all are good for good eating; if there is any better or best among them, it would be hard to specify, and, besides, "comparisons," as Dogberry says, "are odorous." I am told that the "White Sulphur" bears off the palm for numbers, stylish living and big irolicking. We have our fun here too, as much, it seems to me, as the greatest fun-lovers can desire. There are Ten-pins and the game of Croquet, in which ladies, as well as gentlemen, engage; a Billiard table, any number of Backgammon boxes, any number of cards and card tables,—while the young folks kick up their heels in the ball-room every night except Sunday. On Sabbaths we have divine worship—but as it is not an amusement, it is not so well attended as the other things. Shall I keep on or stop at this? L.

A little girl on hearing her mother say that she intended to go to a ball, and have her dress trimmed with bugles, innocently inquired if the bugles would blow while she danced. "Oh, no," said the mother, "your father will do that when he discovers I have bought them."

For the Sentinel.

KITTRELL'S SPRINGS FEMALE COLLEGE.

The Commencement exercises of Kittrell's Springs Female College took place on Wednesday, the 1st. day of July. A large concourse of people, from a distance as well as the immediate neighborhood, were in attendance. Over a hundred students in these hard times, tastefully dressed as ladies only know how to array their persons, made quite a handsome show on the occasion.

There were eleven graduates. Their essays, thirteen in all, were read, with the exception of the Salutatory and the Valedictory, by gentlemen selected for the occasion, and the reading was pleasantly interspersed with very elegant and classical music. The young ladies acquitted themselves in their essays with very decided credit. Where all did so well, it would be scarcely delicate here to make any distinction, though, of course, some were better than the rest.

Dr. Sargent's address to the young ladies was chaste, practical, felicitously appropriate to the occasion, and handsomely delivered.

Professor Koerber followed it with an exceedingly beautiful piece of music on the organ from the Opera of Martha. Thus ended the morning exercises, the order of which in all its particulars was as follows:

PRAYER—Rev. L. M. Lee, D. D.

SALUTATORY—Miss Pattie W. Love, Mecklenburg, Va.

MUSIC.

"Esse Quam Videri"—Miss Hannah C. Baxter, Norfolk City, Va.

Gold Tried by the Fire—Maggie H. Hayes, Franklin, N. C.

"Too low they build, who build beneath the skies"—Miss Pattie W. Love.

MUSIC.

Old Bachelors versus Old Maids—Miss Nina McDowell, Edgecombe, N. C.

The Hours of Life—Miss Mary L. Riddick, Kittrell's Springs.

"Beware of desperate steps:—the darkest day—
Live till to-morrow—will have passed away."
Miss Isadore Spruill, Tyrrel, N. C.

"Man yields to custom as he bows to fate,
In all things ruled, mind, body and estate."
Miss Bettie F. Walker, Person, N. C.

MUSIC.

Conquests of Intellect—Miss Mollie V. Woodward, R. M. College, Va.

"Life is real! Life is earnest, &c,"—Miss Vanie M. Woodward, R. M. College, Va.

"Kittrell's Springs"—Miss Bettie H. Wootton, Mecklenburg, Va.

The Invisible World—Miss Bettie A. Wright, Norfolk City, Va.

Valedictory—Miss Hannah C. Baxter.

ADDRESS AND DEGREES CONFERRED BY REV. T. B. SARGENT, D. D.

MUSIC.

BENEDICTION BY REV. L. L. HENDREN.

In the evening, at 8 o'clock, the Concert began. This lasted between two and three hours. Nothing but classical music from the great masters was allowed to have a place in this Concert, and some of it was very difficult to execute. Nearly all of it was performed with admirable skill and taste. Indeed, this surpassed by far all the Concerts we ever attended, and these have been by no means a few. It will be long before we can forget the pleasure we received from hearing the two superb overtures, Alessandro Stradella and William Tell. Indeed, Professor Koerber is an extraordinary genius, both as an Artist and a Teacher, and we confidently believe that he cannot be surpassed in this country. We learn, from a reliable source, that he is a graduate of the University of Munich, and also of the Conservatory of Music, at Munich, the capital of Bavaria. We are satisfied, from opportunities to know, that no one can make his acquaintance without finding him a polished and entertaining gentleman. He succeeded in this instance in bringing 90 pupils into the Concert, who had been under his instruction only two months.

"HOME AT LAST."

Such was the exclamation of Judge Reade from the Speaker's stand when he had completed the task of swearing in the members of the House of Representatives on the 1st inst. Nearly three years ago he announced from that spot that "we are going home." The journey has certainly proved a much longer one than he expected, and how changed the old homestead must appear after so long an absence and the effects of so many vicissitudes! The Union to which we have returned, if we have returned, is not the Union to which we were invited to return during the four years of the war which intervened between 1861 and 1865.—The Radical party has violated all the sacred promises which it then made through Congressional resolutions and Executive proclamations. The old family mansion is now in a dilapidated condition, if not tottering to its fall, and it will require all the skill and ability of all the architects in the Union to set it in order again, if, indeed, such a thing be possible. But our motto is, "Never despair of the Republic."—Old North State.

Wake Forest College, N. C.

THE FALL TERM OF THIS INSTITUTION will open on the first day of August, 1868, with the prospect of increased patronage and success. The complete assurance given at the recent Commencement, of the adaptedness of the University system to the wants of the times, and of its feasibility, encourages it to believe that the College has entered upon a career of popularity and usefulness hitherto unknown in its history. The financial embarrassments by which all Southern Colleges have been subjected are not felt to the same extent at Wake Forest, as at some others, in consequence of the considerable amount of original endowment saved, and of the favorable reception with which the Agent of the College meets in securing additional funds. An expenditure of more than $2,000 has been recently made in improving the condition of the building and grounds.

Determined to bring its advantages within reach of the largest number possible, the Trustees, seconded by the community, have reduced the price of Board and Tuition to the lowest practicable rates.

The officers of instruction are gentlemen of tried ability in their several departments, and the success attending their efforts in the past is the best guarantee the public can have for the future.

The location of the College in point of healthfulness and accessibility, (being situated on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad a few miles from the Capital of the State,) is not surpassed by that of any other in the land; while the moral and social influences connected with and surrounding it, and the peculiar discipline enforced, present inducements to patronage of no ordinary kind.

A system of PUBLIC LECTURES on literary and scientific subjects has been introduced, with a view to increase the interest of the young men in the several departments of study, and to furnish additional incentives to investigation and research.

Extensive and well selected LIBRARIES belonging to the Societies, and complete APPARATUS, PHILOSOPHICAL and CHEMICAL, are not to be omitted in the enumeration of the advantages possessed.

Another encouraging feature is that there are, at present, thirteen young men engaged in studies preparatory to the work of the Ministry; and it may not be amiss to state that any Minister, who may apply for admission, will receive tuition in all the departments free of charge, and those of this class, who are without means, are encouraged to apply to the Board of Education for further assistance.

NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

NEW YORK, July 6, M.

The police arrangements were inadequate, this morning, to keep back the surging crowd which so blocked the way, that the delegates had difficulty in entering.

At half past ten, the delegates were generally in their seats. The Convention was called to order at a quarter before eleven.

Prayer by the Rev. William Quinn. The reading of the Journal of Saturday was dispensed with.

The delegation from the Working Men's Convention were invited to seats.

The Committee on permanent organization reported for President, Hon. Horatio Seymour, of New York. (Great cheering.) Vice President and Secretary from each State were recommended.

The rules of the Democratic Convention of 1864 were adopted, for the government of the Convention.

The committee on resolutions asked permission to sit during the session of the Convention. Agreed to.

The chair appointed Messrs. Bigler, of Pennsylvania, and Hampton, of South Carolina, a committee to conduct the permanent President to the chair. Gov. Seymour proceeded to the platform amid great cheering, loud and long continued. He returned thanks and counseled moderation and harmony.

He said that the most important questions were forced upon the consideration of this Convention. Some of these were forced upon it by the resolutions of the Chicago Convention.

He discussed briefly the Republican platform, and accused that party of violating its own declaration against repudiation and unequal taxation, and their asserted solicitude for the Soldiers' and Sailors' widows and orphans. He accused the now dominant party with extravagantly wasting the public monies, tainting the National credit, obstructing immigration by overburdening labor with taxation, and breaking down all constitutional guarantees of Republican liberty.

He denied the assertion of the Republican Convention, that the principles of the Declaration of Independence are now sacred on every inch of American soil; for in ten States of the Union military power suppressed civil law.

THE DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION!

NO BALLOT OR PLATFORM YET!

Judge Chase on State Rights!!

SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' CONVENTION!!!

NEW YORK, July 6, P. M.

A large number of resolutions were offered today, and referred without debate.

Resolutions endorsing President Johnson and applauding Judge Chase's course on impeachment, created applause.

A resolution urging universal amnesty, without any exception, was adopted.

Adjourned to 4 o'clock.

Massachusetts and Rhode Island will vote for Chase on the first ballot.

Pendleton's friends claim one hundred and eighty votes on the first ballot.

Chase's letter is published. Alluding to suffrage and other domestic affairs, after expressing himself in favor of according suffrage to all citizens, Chase says:

"On this question I adhere to my old State Rights doctrine. In the event of nomination and success, I trust I should so act that neither the great party, which makes the nomination, nor the great body of the patriotic citizens, whose co-operation would insure success, would have cause to regret their action. It is an intense desire with me to see the Democratic party meeting the question of the day, in the spirit of the day, and assuring to itself a long duration of ascendancy. It can do so if it will."

FOUR O'CLOCK, P. M.

The Convention re-assembled. The Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention presented an address, expressing no preference for a candidate, but breathed harmony and confidence in the result.

An effort to overthrow the two-thirds rule failed.

The Convention adjourned at six o'clock, without ballot or platform.

CONGRESS—DEWEESE, OF ILL., FRENCH, OF WASHINGTON CITY, AND A. H. JONES "SWEAR IN!"

WASHINGTON, July 6, P. M.

HOUSE.—North Carolina's adoption of the 14th article was communicated, and the credentials of the North Carolina representatives presented. French, Deweese and Jones were sworn in—Adjourned.

SENATE.—After unimportant business, the tax was considered to adjournment.

FROM SOUTH CAROLINA—LEGISLATURE.

COLUMBIA, July 6, P. M.

The Legislature was organized by the choice of F. J. Moses, Jr., for the Speaker of the House, and Major O. T. Corbin, President pro tem of the Senate. The Lt. Governor is sick.

In the House, Whipper Lorthern, a negro, nominated a colored man for Speaker, and said that the time would come for the issue to be made in the party. Therefore, the Republicans denied the black man everything, and showed partiality.

Hereafter he would assert his own rights and protect them, too, and the consequences must be with his enemies.

He was severe upon the ignorant white man, who had been elevated to office by the colored voters. He said the thing must stop or the party would go to pieces.

There was considerable excitement—the speech being revolutionary. Ott was out to-day.—"Gov." Scott has arrived.

ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF HARTFORD, CONN.

ASSETS, $9,000,000.

No. POLICIES 52,700.

DIVISIBLE SURPLUS $1,884,768,51.

DIVIDENDS, 50 per cent.

In these days of competition between Life Insurance Companies much is said by rival Agents, each claiming the Company he represents to be the best. Without saying anything in disparagement of any Company, or, by simple assertion, anything in its favor, the ÆTNA begs leave to refer to the annexed table, compiled from the OFFICIAL and SWORN statements of twenty of the largest Companies in America, made to the Insurance Commissioners of the State of New York. The table shows the ratio of expense to each $100 received by each Company, for the three years ending January 1, 1868.

It will be seen that the expenses of the Ætna are much lower than any other Company; and, after the average is struck, the ÆTNA, in 1865, saved $10.41 out of each $100 received—more than the average; in 1866, $7.17, and in 1867, $4.90. The receipts of the ÆTNA were, in 1865, $1,652,309; in 1866, $3,522,376, and in 1867, $5,129,447. Consequently, its savings in the three years were $677,919.39, to which add 7 per cent. interest to July 1, 1868: $120,287.64, making a grand total of $797,207 03 saved over the average of all other Companies.

This is the measure of success, as applied by the Hon Elizur Wright, the greatest of American actuaries, to all Companies, and simply means that the Company whose RATIO of expense to its income is the least, is the best able to pay large dividends to its policy holders. That the ÆTNA is THAT Company, these comparisons of official statements plainly show.

Official Statement showing the Expenses and Losses by the Twenty Largest Insurance Companies in America.

DROWNED.

Ships are tossing at sea,
And ships sail in to the windy cliffs of the shore;
But the ship that is dearest to me
Will never come in with the tide—
Will ripple in the bay no more,
Riding in with the tide.

Under the froth of the foam,
And the yeasty surge and the shuddering gusts of rain,
Lies the lad who will never come home,
His white face hid in the sand;
He neither has care nor pain
Under the sea-weed and sand.

Down by the reefs and the shells,
Far down by the channels that furrow the dolorous deep,
Where the torn sails rise with the swells
And swing in the pulse of the sea,
He is only sleeping a sheep,
Down in the sorrowful sea.

Above him the wrack and the drift,
The red-lit east and the dark and glow in the west,
The currents that change and shift,
And the rain-blown face of the storm;
There is nothing but silence and rest
Under the beat of the storm.

Tangled in rigging and ropes,
And fenced by the wreck of spar and the ruin of mast,
The purple sea-plant gropes
And wanders over my dead;
He shall waken and rise at last
When the sea gives up its dead.

So in the dark and dawn,
In the gloom of keels and the shadow of homebound ships,
My mariner slumbers on
While I am awake and forlorn,
With a weary song on my lips
Out of my heart forlorn.

DEM LOCUS.

MY CULLERED BREDERIN:—You heer dem locus? Hab any on you seed um?—No! Den I gwine tell you all bout um. Da is sent here fo sine, same like da was sent to ole Faroe de king ob Egipt. Da was sent here too, long afore de war, and he cum den for warnin— he hab den de letter W on he wing, an he swarm all ober de land, an he say—war war, waro.

Now de war dun cum and gone, and now he cum agin for warnin. Dem Locus is sine to us cullered peeples, cause he black, head and body—he hab golden wings, but he eye red—red same like glass beed, while he tail part is de culler ob brass button, an sa holler as a egg shell. He hab dat same letter W on he wing, but he now say—work, work, worko, work, work, worko. He golden wing cum for promis to dem dat work—munny for buy meet an bred—munny for buy close for de wife an children—munny for all he want. Dem Locus is cum also for warnin—he tail part is holler and like brass. He cum for warnin us agin dem holler soundin brass Radicals, who promis us ebry ting to git our votes, and den laff at us when we ax for what da promis. Yes, when we ax for de forty acre ob land—he laff an tell us go buy um. When we ax for de corn and bacon we gwine to git for votin Radical Ticket—he say he dun gin it all out! When we ax for big office an want to go to Kongress—he say—O no, dat will not do—"cause de Konstitution say we no been citizen long enuff." Den, my cullerd Brederin, ef we no been citizen we was our ole marster's property, and ef da rob ole marster, da gwine rob us certain an sure.

Dem Locus is warnin us agin de wolf in sheep's jacket—dem same radicals is no moren a sounden brass and a tinklin sheep bell.

Our ole marsters is our best friends—da raised us on da plantation, wid da own chillern—we all play togedder when boys—we all drink de same cow's milk, and now is we gwine turn agin um jist cause we's free? No, no! Less all stick togedder at de South, like brederin, black an white, troo tick an tin—and when we vote less vote for our own folks and not for de holler soundin brass radicals—dats what we Dimbocrats wants—we only want the people to make our laws an no let Kongress hab it all he own way.

Now, my Cullerd Brederin, when yung marster Loveless fust tell me I was sot free, I feel mighty big, too big for my britches—but when I had to leff um we all cried togedder. He say, "Pomp—I wish we cood lib togedder, yet—but I am now smash'd all to pieces—can't sport my children."—Den I say, "Mars Loo, you bin mity good to me—I always had plenty—bred an meet—close for wife an chillern—and plenty of eberyting, an if you is smash up, den we all smash up togedder." So when I went to the resurrection to put in my name, I sot it down Pompey Smash.

Now, my cullered friends, ef we all at de South has bin ruined by de Radicals, don't you see, as long as you vote for dem, you gives dem de power to keep us ruined. Ef you don't—I duz.

Yourn to save,

NEW ARRANGEMENT

FOR THE SENTINEL.

Published in the City of Raleigh, N. C.,

Daily, Semi Weekly and Weekly.

William E. Pell, } Editors.
Seaton Gales, }

In view of the scarcity of money, and the severity of the times, the Proprietor of the SENTINEL has determined to reduce the terms of the paper, to commence after the 31st. DECEMBER, next, and to make such improvements in its general character as will commend it to the patronage of an enlightened public.

In POLITICS it will be thoroughly Conservative, advocating, at all times:

A strict observance of the Constitution of the United States, and the harmonious Union of equal States;

Obedience to law and the enforcement of order;

The supremacy of the civil over the military, in time of peace;

The equality of the three co ordinate branches of the government;

The sovereignty of States over their own internal affairs, in strict conformity to the Constitution;

The maintenance of freedom and justice to all, without distinction of color, but the supremacy of the white race as the governing class;

Opposition to Radicalism in all its phases.

As a NEWS journal, it shall be equal to any.—The principal markets will be regularly published.

Its LITERARY character shall be maintained and improved, by contributions from our best writers.

Finally, the SENTINEL will seek to be the special promoter of the educational, moral and economical interests of the people of North Carolina.

Terms:

Daily Sentinel, for one year,	$8 00
" " six months,	4 00
" " three months	2 00
Semi-Weekly Sentinel, for one year,	4 00
" " six months,	2 00
" " three months,	1 00
Weekly " for one year,	2 00
" " six months,	1 00

All subscriptions strictly cash in advance.

As an advertising medium, the SENTINEL is equal to any in the State. Terms moderate.

☞ We ask every Conservative in the State to become our Agent to extend the circulation of the SENTINEL. The events of 1868 will be exciting and important. The WEEKLY SENTINEL should be in the hands of the great body of the people—The terms are now so low that every one will be able to pay for it.

W. E. PELL,

GENERAL REMARKS.

Revenue stamps may be used indiscriminately upon any of the matters or things enumerated in Schedule B., except proprietary and playing card stamps, for which a special use has been provided.

Postage stamps cannot be used in payment of the duty chargeable on instruments.

It is the duty of the maker of an instrument to affix and cancel the stamp thereon. If he neglects to do so, the party for whom it is made may stamp it before it is used; and, if used after the 20th of July, 1864, and used without a stamp, it cannot afterwards be effectually stamped. Any failure upon the part of the maker of an instrument, to appropriately stamp it, renders him liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars.

Suits are commenced in many States by other process than writ, viz: summons, warrants, publications, &c., in which case these, as the original process, severally require stamps.

Writs of scire facias are subject to stamp duty as original process.

The jurat of an affidavit, taken before a Justice of the Peace Notary Public, or other officer duly authorized to take affidavits, is held to be a certificate, and is subject to a stamp duty of five cents, except when taken in suits of legal proceedings.

Certificates of loan in which there shall appear any printed or written evidence of an amount of money to be paid on demand or at any time designated, are subject to stamp duty as Promissory Notes.

The assignment of a mortgage is subject to the same duty as that imposed upon the original instrument; that is to say, for every sum of five hundred dollars, or any fractional part thereof, of the amount secured by the mortgage, at time of its assignment, there must be affixed a stamp or stamps, denoting a duty of five cents.

When two or more persons join in the execution of an instrument, the stamps to which this instrument is liable, under the law, may be affixed and cancelled by one of the parties.

In conveyance of real estate, the law provides that the stamp affixed must answer to the value of the estate or interest conveyed.

No stamp is required on warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note, when such bond or note has affixed thereto the stamp or stamps denoting the duty required, and whenever any bond or note is secured by mortgage, but one stamp duty is required on such papers, such stamp duty being the highest rates required for such instruments, or either of them. In such case a note or memorandum of the value or denomination of the stamp affixed should be made upon the margin or in the acknowledgment of the instrument which is not stamped.
